EXCLUSIVE PRE-SALE OFFERS DISCOUNT FOR 'TAP DOGS' SHOW AT UM MISSOULA—

Grixtix.com is offering students an exclusive pre-sale discount for the Feb. 20, 2006, "Tap Dogs" performance at The University of Montana.

If students purchase tickets before Dec. 23, they will save $5 on the $45 reserved-seat show. There is a 2-ticket limit for the show, playing at 7:30 p.m. only in the University Theatre.

"Tap Dogs" originated in Australia, featuring an all-male tap crew that has gained rave reviews over the past decade of touring and performing. Time Out New York has called it "A high-voltage tap sensation ... a hell of a good time."

The show is the brainchild of Neil Perry, who grew up in the steel town of Newcastle, Australia. After temporarily setting his interest in dance aside to gain a union card in the steel industry, Perry combined his interest in tap with the industrial themes of his hometown and work. The result won Perry the Olivier Award for choreography in 1996.

Tickets for the show's Missoula premiere are available through Grixtix.com, or order by phone, (406) 243-4051, or the Adams Center Box Office.
